The Cowardly Lion from "The Wizard of Oz " lives up to his name, at least at the beginning of the 1939 film. We eventually learn that he's not really a coward; rather, the Lion thinks he is because he doesn't believe in himself. By the end of the film, the Cowardly Lion performs several courageous acts without realizing his bravery.

Quotes About Courage From the Cowardly Lion

The white bull pondered the words of the lion all night and the next morning went in the opposite direction from his buddies. Immediately after he was alone the lion jumped on him and ate him. Once digested, the lion returned to the charge and told the same thing to the red ox who let himself be convinced and was devoured in turn.
